- Go2Global (for GDS and 120+ additional IDS sites)

What about premium sites like Hotels.com, Orbitz, Travelocity, Priceline, Tripadvisor, and others?

Yes, in just one step you can submit your calendar to these premium sites and more than 120 other IDS sites (Internet Distribution Systems). See the full list below. In addition, your property will appear on the GDS (Global Distribution Systems) with a travel agency network of over 450,000 locations. GO2GLOBAL now offers connectivity to all these sites for one low cost, compared to other providers.

GDS Connect with over 120 IDS sites in one easy step. Go2Global includes popular travel sites like Hotels.com, TripAdvisor, Orbitz.com, Travelocity.com, Priceline.com, and many more. Go2Global offers the advantage of publishing to all IDS sites simultaneously, in addition to all the Global Distribution Systems (GDS). So, we'll list your property on dozens of IDS channels and thousands of travel agencies. Click the link below to see the full list.

Getting started is easy. With Go2Global, there are no initial setup fees or recurring charges. Your basic membership fee already includes the connection. The total cost charged by the travel agencies and IDS booking sites is 17% commission. There's only a cost when you receive reservations. This is an incredible value, considering you get connected to all sites simultaneously. Follow the instructions on our interface to sign up for Go2Global (sorry, not available for youth hostels). We handle the application process. Once your application is approved, your property will be published to all available booking sites.

What exactly are GDS/IDS sites?

Global Distribution Systems (GDS) are the reservation systems used by travel agents to book their air, hotel and car reservations.

Amadeus	67,000 Travel agency locations	EMEA, Asia-Pacific, Americas
Sabre	50,000 Travel agency locations	Americas, EMEA, Asia-Pacific
Worldspan	16,000 Travel agency locations	Americas, EMEA, Asia-Pacific
Galileo	43,000 Travel agency locations	EMEA, Americas, Asia-Pacific
Pegasus	50,000 Travel agency locations	EMEA, Americas, Asia-Pacific

Your property will be bookable on all GDS systems by using the Go2Global channel.

Internet Distribution Systems (IDS) are online travel agents, travel portals, travel search engines/directories, online hotel consolidators, and airline websites that offer online travel reservation to consumers. When you use the Go2Global channel, your property will be available on over 120+ IDS sites. The complete list is available above.

How can I include my property and calendar on the GDS/IDS?

GO2GLOBAL Channel Manager offers many booking channels for one low price.

Additionally, a broad selection of over 120+ IDS sites (Internet Distribution Systems) are available via our Go2Global channel. After handling a brief application process for you, we connect you to all available IDS sites and the entire GDS. This service is available for most accommodation types except youth hostels.

How does Channel Manager work for your property?

You manage your hotel's availability on Go2Global's calendar interface (see "CALENDAR", when you're logged in to your account). You may also use Go2Global's property management systems to administrate your calendar. Additionally, if you upload your hotel's availability to Go2Global using any of our approved XML interfaces, your availability will automatically be available to Channel manager. Bottom line, you manage your calendar only once using any of these methods.

Setting up your Channel manager service is surprisingly affordable and easy

After signing up, complete a one-time configuration procedure. Channel manager will update all your booking sites, and ensure they are synchronized at all times. It's simple.

How frequently can I update my calendar?

You can update your calendar on an unlimited basis. Channel manager will update all your external channels instantaneously when you change your calendar on GO2GLOBAL's Calendar interface.

How does the price compare with competing services?

You will find that Channel manager is priced substantially lower than most competitors. Additionally, our low cost includes many channels that are not available from competitors. When evaluating pricing, consider what services may be bundled in the total cost. You may find that by selecting any combination of GO2GLOBAL's Booking Engine, Front Desk System, and Channel manager, you can achieve significant savings.

Do I have to learn new software to manage my calendar?

No. You may continue to maintain your calendar on GO2GLOBAL's Calendar interface. Alternatively, try our property management system for your front desk. Finally, if you use your own external property management system, your service provider may upload your calendar directly to our system using our XML interface.

I already have a property management system. Do I need to change how I manage my calendar?

No. Many front desk systems interface directly with our calendar system. If your calendar system does not already interface with GO2GLOBAL, instruct your system provider to integrate with our calendar using our XML interface.

Can I publish different prices on different channels?

Yes. In short, you can turn your rooms on or off on GO2GLOBAL's calendar. Additionally, you can map different rooms to various channels. So, by using these features, it's possible to publish different prices on different channels.

How does Channel manager work with my website's booking engine?

Channel manager will interact perfectly with your website. Using our Booking Engine for your website, the same calendar of availability will be displayed. There is no need to manage a separate calendar or reservation system. You can even publish different rooms and rates on your website, versus your external channels.
